

EVANGELIST HOBBS TO LEAVE SATURDAY

There were four more additions to Union Avenue Methodist church Wednesday night and a number of professions. The revival will continue throughout the week. The week night services will come to a close Friday night, when Evangelist E. O. Hobbs will preach his last sermon of the present revival series, and leave for his home Saturday.

Song Evangelist Curwin Honley has returned to his home in Illinois, but under the leadership of the well-trained choir the music continues to be a strong feature of the meeting.

FIFTH MARINES TO BE REORGANIZED

The Fifth regiment of marines, of Belleau wood, which was mobilized last August, is to be immediately reorganized, according to advice from marine corps headquarters.

Only men who have served in the marine corps or the army will be accepted and the Fifth regiment will be notified to make a special effort to get in with former Fifth regiment men.

Shorten Watches Of Emergency Officers

Police emergency officers working at present in pairs of 12-hour shifts each, will be augmented in numbers by two and their watches shortened to eight hours each, beginning Saturday, according to announcement Thursday by Police Commissioner Edgar. The change is being made because of the hardship worked on the emergency officers in attending city and criminal courts in the day while working at night. They make more arrests than any other patrolmen on the force.

The new additions to the emergency officers' force have not been selected, but will be picked more than likely after about 10 vacancies on the patrol force have been filled this week. Thirty-one applicants took the civil service examinations last Saturday and the results will be known by the end of the present week.

The new hours of the emergency officers will be from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., from 3:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m., and the third watch on duty during the remaining three hours. The hours are the same as the desk sergeants. Present emergency officers are York, Oliver, Sherrill and Vannucci.

Eventually, Mr. Edgar states, it is planned to put the entire police force on a three-shift watch.

GUARDING LEEVES IN STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 5. (Sp.)—All levee lines in the Natchez district are well above any stages predicted for the present rise, but usual high water precautions will be taken. When the river attains a stage of 50 feet on the Vicksburg gauge the Natchez governs ment fleet will be assigned to various points in the district, including the following: New Carthage, Kempt Bend, Burns, Hard Times Bend and Natchez. The fleet will be increased by an additional steamboat which is expected to arrive from New Orleans within the next few days.

The levees will be patrolled by the levee boards beginning when the 47-foot stage at Natchez is reached. The levee board will also supply labor for emergency work.

Up to the present only lowlands have been covered in the districts unprotected by levees and no cultivated land has been reached.

Amusements

"The Wanderer."

One of the commanding figures in "The Wanderer," the great Biblical drama, which comes to the New Lyric on Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee, is Henry Duggan as Jesse, the patriarch and father. He is austere yet kindly, devout and altogether a Jew and a staunch believer in every ceremonial of the law. To him it was a great sin to travel on the Sabbath day, or any holy day, for the law as handed from Sinai forbade it.

When Jether, his wayward son, insisted upon his portion that he might go away with an evil companion, Jesse, being just, gave it to him, but, as Jether went away in disobedience and in a manner to break his mother's heart, Jesse pronounced a curse upon him, and said: "Jether, thou shalt never look upon my face again."

When Jether returns, a beggar and penniless, Jesse lifts a hood on his robe and covers his face, for he is determined to keep his vow. But the prayer of the Hebrew, the mother, and of Naomi, the sweetheart, to say nothing of the application of Jether, finally prevailed. A revelation from on high, uncovering his face, Jesse beams upon him and takes him into his arms and all is forgiven.

Orpheum.

"Down with the shimmy dance," is the cry of the Ford sisters, Mabel and Doris, headliners at the Orpheum this week, and among the most famous hard shoe or clog dancers in the world.

"In the first place it is vulgar," declares Mabel. "And that's enough," emphatically adds Doris. "The jazz dance is bound to die," says Mabel. "It has been barred in many theaters. It was just a craze. We never took it up, for we do not approve of it."

Though they are world renowned as premier dance artists, neither has ever acted as a dancing lesson. Practically born on the stage, they learned how to dance as most children learn how to walk. The sisters are children of celebrated variety and vaudeville pair of years gone by, Billy Ford and Lucy Forrester. Their mother, chaperones them wherever they go. Their father is dead. For a number of years Mabel and Doris traveled with their brothers, Eddie, John and Max Ford. Then they opened their own act.

Loew's Lyceum.

"The Devil's Riddle," a new photodrama, in which Gladys Brockwell is the star, will be shown at Loew's Lyceum in connection with the new five-act vaudeville bill which opens Thursday. The story concerns itself with a girl who has lived a lonely life on the plains of Montana, literally starving for the refinements of civilization, which had been denied her. She goes to New York only to find that the loneliness of a big city oftentimes equals the desolation of the silent prairies, and the great world she had longed for seems to swallow her. This is the situation which develops into one of the most absorbing plots ever filmed, with the star reaching the utmost heights of her dramatic power.

"The Volunteers," four men in a classy musical revue, tops the vaudeville program.

Moving Pictures

Majestic.

No star ever made a greater sacrifice to qualify for a part than did 4½-year-old Lawrence Johnson, for the role of Derek Jenson, which he portrays in the Paramount Artcraft screen adaptation of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's famous play "His House in Order," starring Elsie Ferguson, which is the feature at the Majestic theater.

Young Lawrence had a beautiful head of yellow curls which have been much admired by movie fans, but of which Director Hugh Ford disapproved. He hinted this to the youngster, and that was all that was necessary, for the next day Lawrence appeared with his hair neatly bobbed.

Strand.

Obstacles as a rule do not bother Douglas Fairbanks very much, for he has the happy habit of jumping over them or smashing them down with a straight blow clean from the shoulder. But in "When the Clouds Roll By" now at the Strand, there is a very ticklish situation involving a sweetheart, a subject which must be handled with velvet gloves.

Just who started the superstition regarding opals is not on record, but a large majority of the population of civilization will cast this gem aside like a rundown pair of heels. But the folly of it all and the ridiculousness of a lot of unjustified worry is clearly revealed by Doug.

Princess.

A play within a picture is a novel feature of the new Marion Davies production, "The Cinema Murder," which will be shown at the Princess theater for two days beginning Friday. The heroine is an actress who is starred by an unscrupulous financier in a now play in a theater which he has constructed especially to display her talents and beauty.

Sylvia Breamer in "My Husband's Other Wife" is showing for Thursday.

BAPTIST PASTOR QUILTS BLUE MOUNTAIN CHURCH

BLUE MOUNTAIN, Miss., April 5. (Sp.)—Dr. R. A. Kimbrough, pastor of Lowrey Memorial Baptist church, has resigned his work here to take effect the first of June. This church is beginning to investigate to see who will be available and also capable to fill his place. Blue Mountain has one of the most difficult pupils to fill of any church in the state because of the large number of school girls and boys who attend services here each Sunday.

YAZOO NAMES CITY DADS.

YAZOO CITY, Miss., April 5. (Sp.)—With a total of 34 votes cast in the general city election in this city Tuesday, E. F. Swain, candidate for mayor; J. B. Smith, candidate for marshal, assessor, and John P. Bennett and J. W. Stout, candidates for aldermen from the Second ward, received the total number of votes cast. J. C. Hollingsworth and J. W. Gregory, candidates for aldermen in the First ward, received two less votes. Under the change in the city's charter now effective the aldermen are elected by the city at large and there are only four of them where there formerly were eight.

YOUTHS TO FACE JUDGE.

Private Luther Duke, U. S. A., and Earle Strawn, two local youths charged with highway robbery following the holdup of J. E. Keck's garage, 157 South Second street, early Wednesday, were to be arraigned late Thursday before City Judge Barker for preliminary hearing. Both young men are said to have confessed to the job which netted them the sum of $4.

Duke, a re-enlisted overseas veteran, is at home on furlough from Camp Pike, Ark. They were arrested at their respective homes by Detective Sergeants Gwaltney and Joyce.

"BOILED COAL"

Coffee was first drunk in Abyssinia.

It was called "boiled coal" because at that time it was roasted black.

Later, the Koran condemned the use of the "coal," and the brown roast came into favor.

It is the brown roast that is so popular today—375 tons a year are used in the CHILDS restaurants alone.

Golden brown and mellow, with an aroma so enticing that it frequently calls for another cup—CHILDS coffee.
